Transitional program for clean and sober men

Are you searching for a place to stay where you can get ready to move on to employment and housing?

Link is a transitional clean and sober residential program. We're here for homeless men who are:

- employed
- wanting to get employed
- completing education
- obtaining vocational training
- moving on to housing

Link provides Christian discipleship, case management, life skill classes, and occupational work therapy to help men succeed in their employment while saving funds for future stable housing. We'll work with you to fulfill personal goals and address the issues that led to homelessness.

Our program includes

- Clean and friendly environment: shelter, food, and all basic necessities
- Hands-on and experiential Work Therapy program crafted to the professional goals of each resident
- Church attendance, Bible study, devotions, and counseling
- Weekly life skills classes, one-on-one mentoring, and personal development classes
- Training on finance, employability, networking, and resume building
- One-on-one case management

What can you expect?

While you pursue employment, housing, and establish financial savings, you receive life changing classes, counseling, legal advice, dental services, processing groups, and more! You will learn transformative life skills, Bible basics, and receive counseling and case management.

Can I join when the program if I'm already employed?

What if I'm not employed?

This program is best for men who are employed. It's a transitional program that will help you to attain your goals to get out of homelessness. If you are not employed, you can still join the program if your goal is to get employment and housing. We will help you attain your goals by working with you one-on-one.

How do I get in?

We're available Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 7:30am and 3:00pm. Call ahead to reserve a time, or come to the Men's Shelter and ask for an intake interview. Upon successful completion on the intake, if there is a bed available, our intake case manager will extend an offer for you to join the program.
